

Name: _____

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain: A Temperate Forest Food Chain

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below. If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the temperate forest ecosystem.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain: A Rain Forest Food Chain

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below.

If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the rain forest ecosystem.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain: A Savanna Food Chain

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below. If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the savanna ecosystem.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain: A Tundra Food Chain

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below.

If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the tundra ecosystem.

Name: _____

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain:

An Australian Outback

Food Chain

choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below. If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the Australian Outback ecosystem.

Name: _____

Date: _____

Follow That Food Chain: A Desert Food Chain

Directions: Read pages 4-6 and then choose a tertiary consumer to learn more about. Track the food chain by filling in the form below. If you reach a "dead end", complete the prompt and then circle dead end.

Which tertiary consumer did you choose?

List 3 facts about this animal.

1.

2.

3.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Summarize the main idea of the 2nd paragraph on that page, in 20 words or less.

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Write a question that can be answered by reading the information on this page and then write the answer.

Use complete sentences, correct capitalization, punctuation, and spelling.

Q:

A:

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

What is one problem this animal faces or creates? What paragraph was this information taken from?

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Explain one adaptation that helps this animal to survive (escape predators, find food, etc.).

What page # did you go to next and why?

DEAD END

Congratulations on following a temperate forest food chain this far! Continue to record the pages you visit and at least one fact about each animal until you finally reach a dead end.

Summarize the characteristics of the desert ecosystem.